

A General Process Diagram for Tidelines Community/University Co-design and Research

Tidelines is a community led project focussing on the Exe estuary in Devon, UK. Tidelines works with the community, artists, scientists and academics to celebrate, explore and care for the changing estuary environment leading to research and action particularly around climate change. Tidelines.uk